If you were a prefect, how could you help improve NBA?

If I was a prefect I believe I would be a good bridge between students and staff. I believe I have the leadership abilities to be able to fairly collect ideas and the logical thinking and problem solving required to help them become a reality. I'm a confident public speaker; I frequently give presentations to industry professionals at a coding club run by the BBC. This would help me to be able to present my ideas clearly and concisely in both prefect meetings and assemblies or forms.

I feel I am a role model to other students. Since I have been at NBA I have never had an unauthorized late, never had a detention and always tried my best at lessons, no matter how much I enjoy them or how good I am. I have already represented the school at many events as an ambassador, and I would like to do so more.

I would use my power, if I were to become a prefect, to make the school a better place for both myself, and the other students. I enjoy the challenge of making a difference, and would love the challenge of being a prefect
